

I live in Indiana where we already have a telephone privacy law. The FCC should not implement any law that lessens or undermines Indiana's existing law. We used to receive 10-15 calls per week, most were by an automated dialing system where there would usually be no one on the other end after we answered the phone. Now, we receive less than one call per week. This has greatly improved my family's time at home as we are not interrupted by unwanted phone calls, especially at dinner.
